Re: Case No. 2015-3147-FC

In reviewing the public records of the Clerk of Court, the records indicate that a Dissolution of Marriage case has been filed against you.

If you have not already been served, you may be served with a summons and petition for support in the coming weeks. You will have 20 days to respond to the summons before a default is entered against you.

You do have options in handling this matter.

- a. Retain an attorney to represent you.
- b. Represent yourself.
- c. Obtain the assistance of legal document preparer.

~~JW Legal Documents~~ can help you do it for yourself, not by yourself! We can assist in providing you with the documents necessary to respond to the petition, as well as give you procedural instructions on where to file.

~~JW Legal Documents~~ is a full service, non-lawyer document preparation service that is committed to providing affordable assistance to pro se individuals. We have been serving the State of Florida since 2004 and have prepared over 1,000 cases filed in Florida courts.

Give us a call if you have any questions or would like to set up an appointment today!

Sincerely,

~~Janelle Woods~~
